Planned Parenthood® Federation of America, Inc., is the world’s largest and most trusted voluntary reproductive health care organization. Founded by Margaret Sanger in 1916 as America’s first birth control clinic, Planned Parenthood believes in everyone’s right to choose when or whether to have a child, that every child should be wanted and loved, and that women should be in charge of their own destinies.

Every year, nearly 21,000 affiliate volunteers and staff provide sexual and reproductive health care, education, and information to about five million women, men, and teens in the U.S. With our 700,000 donors, they also serve as advocates for sexual and reproductive rights. Separately incorporated, the Planned Parenthood Action Fund fortifies our commitment through lobbying and voter education.

We address family planning needs in developing countries through our international programs, Family Planning International Assistance® (FPIA) and Planned Parenthood PPGP® (PPGP); and through our membership in the International Planned Parenthood Federation. Private-sector contributions, patient fees, government grants, and third-party reimbursements support our programs and services.

A not-for-profit organization, PPFA maintains national offices in New York City, San Francisco, Chicago, and Washington, DC. Our 128 affiliates manage 875 health centers in 48 states and the District of Columbia. FPIA maintains three regional offices — Nairobi, Kenya, for Africa; Bangkok, Thailand, for Asia and the Pacific; and Miami, for Latin America and the Caribbean.

We enhance our mission by supporting a special affiliate, The Alan Guttmacher Institute (AGI), an independent, not-for-profit corporation for reproductive health research, policy analysis, and public education.
Vision for 2025 — Powering the Promise — A Dialogue

Why develop a Vision for 2025 now?

GLORIA FELDT, PPFA President: Planned Parenthood has grown so much from its roots. Our resolve on the core issues has remained constant, but our responsibilities related to them have escalated. And the strategy to reach our goals has changed dramatically. It will change again and again, faster and faster, as time goes on. And while recent catastrophic events have taken national precedence, we must not only keep the lifeline of our movement alive for the future, we must continue to grow and thrive, we must create the future of our choice.

ALFREDO VIGIL, PPFA Chairperson: Today’s political atmosphere is one of the most challenging times for us in all of our 85-year history. The best interests of women — their reproductive freedom, their right to dignity and privacy, and their access to a full range of family planning services — are not being served as fully as they must be.

Where will the Vision for 2025 take us?

GLORIA: The world we envision is one in which all people possess and can pursue their own dreams. And we create hope that humanity will someday live in harmony with our fragile global environment so that future generations can thrive. As importantly, we see a world in which people will be free to make life’s most profound personal choices to realize their dreams.

ALFREDO: We will realize the beautifully simple mission of Planned Parenthood — creating a world in which choice will prevail. The future of Planned Parenthood looks bright. Our Vision of the future will shine like a beacon into and beyond the next 24 years.

How can we live up to the Promise we make in our Vision for 2025?

ALFREDO: We have challenges to face out there in the world, but we also have challenges inside our organization. We must promote diversity at all levels within Planned Parenthood. And we need to celebrate diversity of age just as we do ethnic, religious, racial, and sexual diversities. We need the wisdom, experience, and in-your-face vigor of youth. That energy will carry us through to our Vision for 2025.

GLORIA: The time for reflection is over, and the time for commitment is upon us. We must dedicate ourselves fully to living up to this Promise in everything we do. Our hard work will bear delicious fruit for generations to come. So let us pledge to work vigorously and optimistically. Together we can turn our bold Vision into the reality of its Promise — hope for humanity.
The Planned Parenthood Vision for 2025

If the pursuit of personal liberty has been the hallmark of the century just ended, few organizations have done more to contribute to individual rights than Planned Parenthood. Lives were changed and improved daily, around the world, because of our pursuit of our mission. That is why our founder, Margaret Sanger, is considered one of the most influential shapers of the 20th century.

As important as our past contributions have been, we know that our work is not done. In 1999, Planned Parenthood embarked on a two-year visioning journey to contemplate, deliberate, and define how our organization might have an equally significant impact on the 21st century. To that end, we created an audacious, inspiring, and inclusive vision.

Most organizations that have withstood the test of time no longer “do” what they once did, but their core beliefs and convictions endure, just as ours have endured throughout our 85-year history. So we took a step back to distinguish what we “do” from what we “believe.”

The Planned Parenthood blueprint for creating the future of choice has three elements:

- a Promise that embodies the overall spirit of what we wish to create
- a statement of Beliefs that amplifies the language of the Promise
- a set of Goals that makes the vision concrete

The Planned Parenthood Promise reflects our core values and deepest aspirations for ourselves and the world. It envisions a world in which people are free to make life’s most profound choices about childbearing and relationships as they see fit. Our Promise is to create the will, the technology, and the enduring political and legal structures to make this vision a reality.

The Planned Parenthood Beliefs that inspire this Promise appear throughout this report to illustrate how Planned Parenthood volunteers, donors, and staff strive to reach and maintain our Goals everyday.

The Goals that Planned Parenthood promises to achieve by 2025 represent awesome challenges. They will require us to create new strategies; raise new funds; learn a wide array of new skills; and attract new staff, volunteers, and experts. Achievement of these internal Goals will not only make the Planned Parenthood Federation a more powerful, efficient, and streamlined organization, it will transform the world as we achieve our external goals:

- Planned Parenthood will ensure that sexuality is understood as an essential, lifelong aspect of being human and that it is celebrated with respect, openness, and mutuality.
- Planned Parenthood will ensure access to reproductive and sexual health care for all.
- Planned Parenthood will secure passage of laws and policies, including state and federal constitutional amendments that guarantee reproductive freedom for all.
- Planned Parenthood will implement the Cairo Agreement, with the U.S. fulfilling its financial commitment and implementing those principles in the U.S.
- Planned Parenthood will be a significant catalyst for the development and universal dissemination of new reproductive technologies.

We have begun the process of creating detailed implementation strategies to achieve each of these Goals over the next 24 years. Our success will influence the future for every woman, man, and child on the planet, fulfilling the Planned Parenthood Promise to the world.
We believe in trusting individuals and providing them with the information they need to make well-informed decisions about sexuality, family planning, and childbearing.

We believe that children flourish best in families and communities where they are nurtured, honored, and loved.

Teaching and Talking About Sexuality

Learning about sexuality is a lifelong process. When it comes to sexual health, knowledge is power. Planned Parenthood helps people make responsible choices about sexuality and parenthood by offering comprehensive, medically accurate sexuality information in the classroom, community centers, and houses of worship.

Some National Office Activities

Through its education and professional training programs, Planned Parenthood helps people make responsible choices about sexual and reproductive health nationwide. Last year, we

- served as advisors for the U.S. Surgeon General’s groundbreaking Call to Action to Promote Sexual Health and Responsible Sexual Behavior, which recognizes the sexual rights of women, men, and young people; the role of sexuality in their lives; their ability to enjoy their sexuality; and their right to information about family planning.
- developed Teaching About Responsible Choices for Sexual Health, Fourth Edition, which describes 11 affiliate programs, and a manual, Making Progress — An Introduction to Evaluating Community Programs
- provided training and assistance in program evaluation for 180 staff at six affiliates
- trained nearly 2,000 professionals through the PPFA Network For Learning
- led a coalition of 58 national organizations in support of National Family Sexuality Education Month in October
- posted a new sexuality education section on plannedparenthood.org
- published Guidelines for Planned Parenthood Education Departments
Some Affiliate Activities

Last year, more than 870 Planned Parenthood affiliate educators reached 1.3 million Americans — young people, parents, civic and business leaders, teachers, social workers, and counselors — with programs on birth control, sexually transmitted infections, safer sex, teen pregnancy prevention, puberty, relationship skills, life options, delaying intercourse, parent-child communication, and many other topics.

- Out of the Locker Room helped young men between the ages of 14 and 17 develop skills to make responsible choices in their relationships by participating in activities and discussions about stereotypes, contraception, safer sex, communication, and dating violence (Planned Parenthood Northern Michigan).

- The Teen Voices peer education program instructed high school students on educating their friends, family, and community members about teen health and social issues. Peer educators shared information about healthy relationships, delaying intercourse, contraception, sexual identity, suicide prevention, decision making, and goal setting (Planned Parenthood of Orange & Durham Counties, NC).

- Habla Con Tu Hermana (Talk To Your Sister) helped Latinas from low-income families develop the skills to talk with their children about sexuality across the life span and to make healthy lifestyle choices through sexual health educational sessions (Planned Parenthood of San Antonio & South Central Texas).

- It’s Your Future helped teens in a low-income housing facility make positive life choices by providing them with health and sexuality education, academic tutoring, skills development, and recreation (Planned Parenthood of Arkansas & Eastern Oklahoma).

The Planned Parenthood Condom

Last year, Planned Parenthood launched its own line of latex condoms. Each condom wrapper bears the Planned Parenthood logo, our toll-free telephone number, and Web site address. Every label directs users to their nearest Planned Parenthood health center.

Planned Parenthood affiliates ordered approximately 3.5 million condoms for the launch. Developed in conjunction with feedback from our clients, the first two styles are lubricated — with or without spermicide. Flavored — honeydew and raspberry — and colored — red, blue, and green — condoms will be available soon.

Emergency Contraception

During our three-year Emergency Contraception (EC) Public Awareness Campaign, Planned Parenthood health centers experienced a record, sixfold increase in requests for EC. The number of visits to www.plannedparenthood.org/ec increased 20-fold. These successes were due, in large part, to affiliate efforts — 10 received technical assistance grants from PPFA, totaling $350,000, to promote EC awareness.

Celebrities, including Dice Raw, Pink, and Sarah McLachlan, appeared in our award-winning print, radio, and television ads. The “Teardrop” TV spot, featuring model Beverly Peele, received a Telly Award for excellence in non-network TV ads. Our EC ads were also placed in magazines such as Rolling Stone, Latina, Essence, Vibe, and Jane — as well as on drink coasters in restaurants and bars across the country.

International Family Planning

Through Family Planning International Assistance® and Planned Parenthood Global Partners®, PPFA pursues its vision by helping family planning projects worldwide provide and advocate for services. This collaboration is devoted to building a world in which women are safe, children are wanted, population is sustainable, and sexually transmitted infections are rare.

Family Planning International Assistance®

In collaboration with local communities, Family Planning International Assistance (FPIA), part of the International Division of PPFA, increases access to sexual health services and strengthens support for reproductive rights in strategically selected countries in Africa, Asia, the Pacific, Latin America, and the Caribbean. FPIA also supports networks of reproductive health and rights advocates and providers in these regions.

FPIA supports organizations that reach underserved populations and provide:
- sexuality education and services for adolescents and youth at high risk
- safe abortion services
- services for women and men at risk of violence

These reproductive health programs, alongside other needed socioeconomic programs, make major contributions to the lives and futures of women and men around the world.

In Africa, FPIA helped 14 projects serve 75,400 clients with sexuality education, provide 4,577 safe abortions, and launch three new projects in Benin, Nigeria. In collaboration with the Ford Foundation, FPIA hosted an adolescent conference for young people from various countries. FPIA also led a delegation of PPFA staff and volunteers — including PPFA President Gloria Feldt and former Chairperson Mary Shallenberger — as well as donors to visit projects in Kenya and Uganda.
In Asia, FPIA launched two initiatives in India and Myanmar. The FPIA-assisted project in West Bengal hosted a visit from the United Nations Population Fund Goodwill Ambassador and Miss Universe 2000. FPIA continued to support projects in Bangladesh, Laos, the Philippines, Thailand, and Vietnam, serving a total of 32,301 contraceptive clients — 16,034 of whom were under 25 years of age.

In Latin America and the Caribbean, FPIA provided assistance to 17 projects in 10 countries. These projects provided sexual health services including contraception to 39,116 clients (70 percent of whom were adolescents) and to an additional 2,160 persons through non-client-based programs; conducted 2,144 safe abortion procedures; and offered sexuality education to approximately 40,000 adolescents and 600 parents and teachers. FPIA also assisted in the development of three countrywide Youth Leadership Networks and an abortion-provider support network involving 22 activists from 11 nongovernment organizations.

Planned Parenthood Global Partners®

Planned Parenthood Global Partners (PPGP) is the public policy and affiliate partnership arm of the PPFA International Division. PPGP combines three approaches — public education, constituency building, and partnerships that connect Americans and other people in the world in a way that leads to community activism on international issues.

In the past year, we

- worked with members of Congress and affiliates to overturn the “global gag rule,” imposed by President George W. Bush his first day in office — reducing the number of votes in favor of it for the fifth consecutive year
- mobilized activists to send more than 25,000 messages to Congress and President Bush in support of international family planning
- co-convened the Planet campaign, a multi-agency, public education effort to educate young Americans about the importance of international family planning by placing ads in popular magazines, Web sites, and post card distribution kiosks
- developed radio and television public service announcements to raise awareness about and support for international family planning

In the past year, we

- launched nine new partnerships between Planned Parenthood affiliates and family planning agencies abroad — bringing our total to 26
We believe in the right to sexual and reproductive self-determination that is non-coercive, non-exploitive, and responsible.

Improving the Quality of Reproductive Health Care

Medical Services and Research

Throughout the world, Planned Parenthood is synonymous with high quality, affordable, community-based health care. As we encourage responsible choice and preserve women’s sexual and reproductive health through prevention, education, and self-empowerment, we move closer to our vision of a sexually healthy nation and world.

Some National Office Activities

PPFA national staff are recognized authorities on all aspects of reproductive health, from research and technology to patient care, public information, education, and health care policy. To improve the quality of reproductive health care, last year, we

- coordinated 61 new affiliate services and approved a range of new medical services at the 2000 PPFA National Medical Committee meeting, including those related to menopause, domestic violence, HPV testing, and fetal tissue donation
- published two editions of the newsletter for affiliates, Medical Digest, and held three audio conferences — two on medical abortion and one on Pap tests
- reviewed and approved 45 affiliate research project proposals on a range of topics from access to prenatal care services to the development of new microbicides

The PPFA Nurse Practitioner Program

The PPFA Nurse Practitioner Program, recognized nationally as the industry standard, prepares registered nurses to become highly skilled family planning nurse practitioners. Last year, the program successfully completed its transformation from a grant-based residential program to a tuition-based distance-learning program. During that time we

- trained 49 women’s health nurse practitioners
- created a new grant-funded specialty curriculum offering “GYN for the Non-GYN Clinician,” “Introducing Male Services into Your Clinical Practice,” and “Clinical Skills in Reproductive Health” to 50 participants
- hosted more than 400 nurse practitioners, physician assistants, and nurse midwives at the 25th Annual Post-Graduate Seminar for Nurse Practitioners in Women’s Health Care

*If clients received multiple services, they are counted in each service.

NOTE: Some affiliates have made corrections to their 1999 reports and not all numbers will match last year’s report.
We believe in inclusion and diversity — and the power and knowledge they confer.

We believe that women should have an equal place at life’s table, and be respected as moral decision makers.

Improving the Quality of Reproductive Health Care

Preserving Title X

Making use of the stories women tell us about their lives, and with strong, coordinated coalition and grassroots lobbying efforts nationwide, PPFA helped preserve Title X, America’s family planning program, achieving a funding increase of $15 million, for a total of $254 million. Title X subsidizes contraceptive services, basic ob/gyn care, screening for sexually transmitted infections, and pregnancy testing and referrals for millions of low-income women and teenagers. Even though Title X prevents hundreds of thousands of unintended pregnancies and saves millions of tax dollars each year, opponents of family planning continually try to cripple this program.

Reaching In: The Planned Parenthood Diversity Initiative

To maintain social justice throughout our organization and to help all our clients make responsible choices, we continued our federation-wide Diversity Initiative. We

- expanded a cadre of affiliate-based diversity advocates through two additional sessions of the Training of the Trainer Program
- conducted affiliate diversity trainings
- published Cultivating Diversity — Organizing Within and Without, a coalition building booklet
- launched a vendor diversity and coalition-building project
- developed a Vision For 2025 diversity goal — helping Planned Parenthood become the model for embracing diversity and expanding the decision-making power base of its stakeholders
In June 2001 — in the first case to address the issue — Planned Parenthood won a ruling from a federal judge in Erickson v. Bartell Drug Co. that an employer’s exclusion of prescription contraception from its health benefits plan is illegal sex discrimination.

The court ruled, “In light of the fact that prescription contraceptives are used only by women, [the] choice to exclude that particular benefit … is discriminatory.” Prior to the decision, we obtained a ruling from the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission holding the same.

Planned Parenthood also created the Fair Access to Contraception Project, which includes the Web site, www.covermypills.org. The project’s main goals are to educate women about persuading their employers to provide prescription contraceptive coverage, and to expand access to contraception through legal proceedings and federal and state legislation.

Leadership Institute

Advancing our mission and meeting the goals of our vision for the next 25 years requires high quality leadership at all levels. The PPFA Leadership Institute provides up-to-date information and skill-building techniques — encouraging success and professional growth among board members, national staff, and affiliate leaders.

During the past year, we

* held 15 half-day workshops on topics ranging from “Living and Working in Balance” to “Leading Your Board from Bored to Bold” before the Annual Conference for more than 170 affiliate CEOs and board chairs
* presented three multi-day senior manager development workshops to more than 60 affiliate leadership staff members
* conducted two orientations for new affiliate CEOs

Responding to the Crisis in Kosovo

The PPFA Kosovo relief effort, which began in April 1999, was successfully completed last year. In response to the crisis, the national office and affiliates provided funding for desperately needed reproductive health services, supplies, and medical training to alleviate the suffering of thousands of Kosovar women.

Over the last three years, we contributed a total of $232,736 to the Albanian Family Planning Association to assess needs for family planning, create programs to meet those needs, and establish a non-governmental organization, the Kosovar Association for the Health Planning of the Family. These organizations raise knowledge and awareness — especially among young people — about reproductive health, family planning, safer sex, and unsafe abortion; train reproductive health care providers; and advocate for expanded reproductive rights.
We believe in action — to make things happen and to improve people’s lives and circumstances.

Defending Women’s Right to Choose

Access to abortion is vital to women’s ability to make responsible choices about reproduction. Through our work in our communities, the courts, state legislatures, and Congress, Planned Parenthood strives to preserve — and expand — access to abortion services for all women who face unwanted pregnancy.

Some National Office Activities

To protect our clients and staff from anti-choice violence in the past year, we

- published and distributed the new PPFA Affiliate Security Manual
- in coalition with the National Abortion Federation and the Feminist Majority Foundation, held 10 briefings on clinic violence and security and distributed 500 copies of our new Resource Guide on Violence Against Reproductive Health Centers
- provided security reviews, training, and assistance for 81 affiliates
- held a basic security school for 16 new affiliate security coordinators
- granted more than $200,000 to affiliates for upgrading security hardware
- initiated the National Organization Security Project (NOSP) to standardize security policies and procedures for all national office facilities and staff

We continued our efforts in the courts to protect and defend the reproductive rights of women. Last year we obtained

- a ruling from the Tennessee Supreme Court recognizing that the right to choose abortion is a fundamental right under the Tennessee Constitution
- a preliminary injunction from the federal court allowing the continued building of a new Planned Parenthood health center in Manchester, NH, despite anti-choice opposition
- an injunction against an Idaho law that placed restrictions on minors access to abortion services and required a woman to present “positive identification” in order to obtain an abortion

We also continued to litigate in efforts to challenge

- restrictive abortion laws and won favorable rulings in Virginia, New Jersey, Wisconsin, and Michigan the exclusion of Planned Parenthood affiliates from a state-funded family planning program in Missouri

ROEvBUSH.com

PPFA developed ROEvBUSH.com to educate the public and block the confirmation of John Ashcroft as U.S. attorney general. The Web site was a great success — with more than 4.3 million hits in the first six weeks.

A “choicemobile” at the Emergency Action for Women’s Lives distributed ROEvBUSH.com T-shirts, buttons, and signs, which were seen throughout the crowd.

Our unprecedented grassroots outreach, tremendous affiliate work, and strong coalition efforts nearly brought down the nomination. Despite nearly universal approval at the outset, 42 senators voted against confirmation, and the new administration was put on notice about the strength of our movement and our determination to fight any anti-choice Supreme Court nomination to the end.

Some Affiliate Activities

Planned Parenthood affiliates nationwide work to preserve and expand access to all reproductive health care services and to urge the pro-family planning, pro-choice majority of Americans to voice their pro-choice views.

- Through the Pro-Choice Organizing Project, and in collaboration with PPFA and NARAL, affiliates in 20 states identified one million new pro-choice supporters for activist efforts.
- Intermountain Planned Parenthood (Montana) used coalition efforts and new technologies, available through the Pro-Choice Organizing Project, to defeat every anti-choice bill that was introduced.
- Planned Parenthood of the Chicago Area set up EC4U.org to provide emergency contraception prescriptions for EC online. The affiliate also was instrumental in getting a bill passed to ensure that rape victims will receive information about EC in hospital emergency rooms — even those affiliated with anti-choice religions.
- Planned Parenthood of Middle and East Tennessee sponsored a luncheon for religious leaders in Nashville — Buddhist, Christian, Jewish, and Muslim — increasing membership and participation in the PPFA Pro-Choice Religious Network.
- Planned Parenthood of Orange and San Bernardino Counties (California) heavily lobbied elected officials and prevented the establishment of a request for a fee waiver to deny the provision of EC in county-based clinics. PPOSBC’s mobilization of the pro-choice community also blocked the potential for appeal.

Mifepristone

Over the course of the year since the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved the use of mifepristone (formerly known as RU-486) for safe and early medical abortion, we

- developed standards and guidelines for the provision of mifepristone
- improved and expanded medical abortion services with grant money, which enabled 45 Planned Parenthood affiliates to offer medical abortion services to clients in 88 health centers nationwide
- published Medical Abortion and Aborto Médico
Informing the Public

Providing information to help people make responsible choices has been our mission since 1916. Our clients, the general public, students, policymakers, the media, Web surfers, and researchers continue to look to us for information about sexual and reproductive health and U.S. health policy.

Increasing Visibility

The media has a major impact on what political leaders, activists, and members of the community know and believe about reproductive health and rights issues. That’s why PPFA works hard to maintain and enhance our position as a primary and highly respected source of information for producers, editors, and journalists. Our leadership position and bold stances allow us to define the debate, while correcting distortions advanced by anti-family planning, anti-choice extremists.

Every day, through a broad array of interviews and exchanges with newspapers, magazines, radio and television shows, and new media outlets, PPFA advocates powerfully for reproductive freedom. Thousands of news stories cited the work of Planned Parenthood last year. They included hundreds of interviews with PPFA President Gloria Feldt by network television and radio news programs, major newspapers and magazines, wire services, and leading Web sites. Coverage included stories carried by the Associated Press, the Boston Globe, the Chicago Tribune, The New York Times, the Los Angeles Times, Reuters, the Wall Street Journal, the Washington Post, USA Today, ABC-TV, CBS-TV, CNN-TV, NBC-TV, Fox Television, National Public Radio (NPR), ABC Radio, CNN Radio, the Public Broadcasting System, MSNBC, and many more.

The National Advertising Campaign

Our National Advertising Campaign experienced continued success in transforming the PPFA mission into visual and audio messages for the public. Last year we launched new award-winning campaigns for the Responsible Choices® Action Network and Vox®: Voices for Planned Parenthood, and created print ads for the Emergency Contraception Awareness Campaign, teenwire®.com, and Planned Parenthood Global Partners. Thanks to the generous support of our donors, Planned Parenthood ads have appeared in 69 editions of popular national magazines, including George, Heart & Soul, Latin Girl, New Yorker, Self, Teen Voices, and Vanity Fair.

An affiliate-funded project to produce service ads for radio and television led to an increase in new client visits to our health centers. The Telly award-winning ad campaign — “What do I know about me?” — informed the public about affiliates’ full range of services and helped position Planned Parenthood as the leader in equity and inclusivity when it comes to access to reproductive health care.

WWW.PLANNEDPARENTHOOD.ORG

Reaching out to millions of diverse individuals through the Internet, plannedparenthood.org logged more than 650,000 visits per month (up from 420,000 per month in the previous year). This PPFA Web site now ranks number seven in the world for number of visits to a health Web site, and offers:

- contact information for every Planned Parenthood affiliate
- comprehensive information about all aspects of sexual and reproductive health, including a growing list of Spanish-language titles and links to other Spanish-language resources
- a new Member Section for donors
- Responsible Choices Action Network “action alerts” and Legislative Action Center, providing activists with an easy way to contact members of Congress via e-mail, fax, or postal mail
- new sections with information about PPFA’s international programs
- an online store for purchase of Planned Parenthood sexual and reproductive health resources and products — including a Books-to-Read section linked to Amazon.com, royalties from which are paid to PPFA

WWW.TEENWIRE.COM

The PPFA fully confidential Web site teenwire®.com is a place where teens can safely and comfortably get the answers they need to questions they may not be able to ask their parents, doctors, or peers — questions about sex, relationships, and lifestyles. The site was nominated for a Webby Award in two categories this year — Best Health Web site and Best Kids Web site.

Receiving 300,000 visits a month and more than 400 personal inquiries a week, the number of visits to teenwire.com increased by nearly 100 percent over last year. New features on teenwire.com include a Spanish-language section; “Deal With It,” a resource list of organizations, hotlines, and Web sites for teens in crisis situations; and “Now Playing,” which offers dramatic films about sexual health issues, produced by Scenarios USA.

CONSUMER HEALTH PUBLICATIONS

PPFA produces and distributes award-winning print and online publications that are vital to people’s ability to make responsible choices about their sexual and reproductive health. During the past year Planned Parenthood affiliates and other health care providers distributed more than 1.8 million PPFA pamphlets, including five newly published titles: Is This Love? — How To Tell If Your Relationship Is Good For You, Genital Warts — Questions and Answers, How Do You Know When You’re Ready For Sex?, HPV and Cervical Cancer — Questions and Answers, Is Abstinence Right For You?, and Como Hablar Con Los Niños Sobre la Sexualidad.
We believe in passion — for change, for justice, for easing the plight of others, for caring, for living our convictions, and for confronting inhumane acts.

Katharine Dexter McCormick Library

The Katharine Dexter McCormick Library serves the research and information needs of PPFA staff and volunteers nationwide, as well as researchers, other sexual health professionals from around the world, and the general public. Last year, the library drew from its collection of 5,900 books, 22,000 articles, pamphlets, journals, and historic photographs and videotapes to respond to more than 1,500 requests for information and to publish 20 fact sheets and the resource listings for bimonthly issues of Educator’s Update.

Famous Faces

More than 300 high-profile leaders in the arts and entertainment industry are members of the PPFA Board of Advocates (BOA). Their public support for the PPFA mission is extremely valuable. Last year

- Blythe Danner, Cynthia Nixon, Stanley Tucci, Heather Tom, Eve Ensler, and Joan Osborne appeared on RoeVBush.com and joined other BOA members in sending faxes and e-mails to the White House and Congress to denounce the nomination of John Ashcroft
- William H. Macy and Felicity Huffman, new BOA members, publicized their support of the Planned Parenthood mission on plannedparenthood.org
- Julianne Moore and Ashley Judd supported Planned Parenthood during publicity junkets, and Lucy Liu authored a column in Glamour magazine on international family planning
- Kathleen Turner (BOA chairperson), Betty Buckley, Elayne Boosler, Richard North Patterson, and many other BOA members participated in the PPFA Maggie Awards ceremony at the 2001 Planned Parenthood Annual Conference, honoring the arts and entertainment industry and the media for promoting reproductive health and rights
- Sarah Jessica Parker, Whoopi Goldberg, and Phyllis Diller were among the many members who donated autographed items to our affiliate auction project — raising crucial funds for Planned Parenthood health centers
- Shawn Colvin, Sharon Gless, Mia Farrow, and Sarah Weddington were just a few of the members who attended affiliate functions nationwide — recruiting new advocates and generating revenue for Planned Parenthood affiliates
PPFA Clergy Advisory Board

The PPFA Clergy Advisory Board leads a national effort to increase public awareness about the spiritual, ethical, and moral dimensions of reproductive choice and to encourage clergy and lay religious leaders to support the Planned Parenthood mission and programs by joining the PPFA Pro-Choice Religious Network. The network has more than 2,000 members who receive the newsletter Clergy Voices three times a year.

Last year, for the first time, PPFA participated in a nondenominational convention to inform members of the clergy about our educational programs and to encourage them to join the Responsible Choices Action Network. Another first — made possible by a grant from the Planned Parenthood Foundation — was a collaboration between the PPFA Clergy Project and Planned Parenthood of Metropolitan Washington to provide training for seven affiliates that are committed to building partnerships with religious institutions in their communities.

Vox®: Voices for Planned Parenthood

Vox: Voices for Planned Parenthood is a nationwide program that is committed to energizing and mobilizing the new generation of pro-choice Americans. Vox increases young people’s awareness of current threats to reproductive health and rights, mobilizes them in support of reproductive freedom, and cultivates their long-term involvement with Planned Parenthood and the pro-choice movement.

Last year, we

- coordinated affiliate outreach at approximately 300 concerts, providing information for more than 145,000 young people
- launched an affiliate campus outreach program to build and strengthen pro-choice student groups at universities nationwide
- published Health! Choice! Activism!, the Planned Parenthood guide to campus organizing
- featured celebrities in our national advertising campaign to raise awareness about the threat to reproductive health and rights, including Mary J. Blige, and Board of Advocate members Joan Osborne and Julia Stiles
- joined Youth Vote — a national nonpartisan coalition of organizations working to encourage civic and political participation among our nation’s young adults
We believe in leadership based upon collaboration rather than hierarchy.
